NO. 152.

MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

The British war steamer Mercury, lately completed and tested, is said to be the swiftest vessel in the world. She makes 23 miles an hour.

Six misbehaving young men were taken from their beds by a mob at Wesley Chapel, Ind., tied to a fence in a row, and whipped almost to death.

The Chinese keep grapes a long time fresh by cutting a hole in a pumpkin, cleaning it out and after filling it with ripe fruit replacing the cover.

Remark by Judge McCrady, in a court at New London, Conn.—The Sheriff will kindly request the gentlemen of the jury to desist from eating peanuts. This is not a circus.

The improvement of the iron industry all over the country is very decided. At New Albany, Ind., merchant iron has gone up $14, railroad iron from $10 to $12, pig iron $6.50 to $9, and iron ore 50c. per ton, all within the present year. The rolling mills are now arranged to run night and day.

A Paris husband was told that his wife, who had gone into the country to be cured of an illness, was dead. An hour afterward she presented herself before him in perfect health. The sudden and violent transition from sorrow to joy (or joy to sorrow) was too much for him and he became a maniac.

Commander Cameron of the British navy says that the Morse system of telegraphy, as far as it depends on the length of sounds, has long been in use in Africa. He has found tribes that, by stationing drummers at intervals, carry intelligence for miles with great rapidity, the beats of the drum being made in accordance with a previous arrangement of signals.

A mob broke into a jail at Pentonville, Neb., took out Barney Thomas, a horse thief, and started for a convenient tree to hang him on. It happened that a party of Barney's friends were lurking in the neighborhood, having made an ineffectual attempt to get him out of the prison. They fell upon the lynchers suddenly, rescued the prisoner and escaped with him.

Martel Fearing was repeatedly visited, at Plain City, O., so he says, by the ghost of an old hunter, who declared that there was a valuable deposit of lead on the farm. Under the unearthly guidance, Fearing dug night after night to find the mineral, but the ghost did not direct any precaution against accident, and finally the shaft caved in injuring the miner fatally.

Brigham Young mixed the Mormon church property with his own in a way that, in law, left it all at his death as one estate. The executors, who are Mormon dignitaries, undertook to separate the two equitably; but the heirs, consisting of the original and only lawful Mrs. Young and her children, have had a receiver appointed and it looks as though they would finally get the entire amount.

A Woman's Adventurous Career.

From the New York Sun.
Educated, pretty and fashionably dressed women were not common in Nevada City, Cal., in 1854. Therefore the arrival of Madam Dumont in that mining town caused considerable excitement, for she was attractive in the three mentioned particulars. Besides she was not more than 20 years old. She at once hired a corner in a large saloon and opened a faro game. The novelty of a woman dealing the cards drew many gamblers to her table, and her success was so great that she soon opened a large establishment, where a dozen games were kept going night and day. She gained the reputation of dealing honestly, was always smilingly polite, and the miners liked her—even held her in considerable respect. But her luck changed at last from good to bad, and she lost all her money. She spent a few years in other business in San Francisco, but could not recover into prosperity. A few weeks ago she borrowed $500 from an old friend and started for the mining region of Nevada, contemplating a new career as a gambler. She opened a faro game at Bodie, but it lasted only a few hours, when the bank was broken. She paid her losses in the old smiling manner, retired to an ante-room, swallowed poison, and died.

Struck It Big but Not Rich.

From the Colorado Letter.
A few days ago two prospectors, working on what is known as the Cedar Rapids lode, a short distance from town, sunk a shaft over thirty feet deep and struck it big but not rich. They came upon the skeleton of a gigantic mastodon. The head of the monster occupied the whole bottom of the shaft, and is admirably preserved. Some persons of a scientific turn of mind tried to persuade the prospectors to preserve the skeleton uninjured. But their answer was that they did not care a cent for the skeleton; they were digging for silver and not mastodons.

A Conundrum Answered.

From the Hawkeye.
"What," asks a writer, "is fiercer than the eye of a fighting animal at bay?" Well, we don't know what, unless may be it is the other eye. Or, held up, we won't give it up yet—it's the animal itself. Ask us another one.

A Man who Values His Name More Than $10,000 a Year.

The English poet laureate has paid a substantial penalty to fame. He has formally rejected an estate of two thousand a year, possession of which is conditional on his change of name from Tennyson to Turner. His brother some years ago came into ownership by inheritance of the property, and willingly changed his name for the sake of the income; and many readers who have admired the sonnets of the Rev. Charles Turner are unaware that the author was brother to the bard who sang the idyls of the King. He died in March last, his wife followed him to the grave in April, and the property fell to the laureate, saddled with the stipulation that he should forswear Tennyson for Turner. He has refused to surrender a name good for a fifty-year immortality for obscurity and two thousand a year. But Alfred can afford to be magnanimous. His works bring him in, one year with another, three thousand pounds per annum, and he has a thousand besides out of landed property purchased with the savings of his muse. Then he is very thrifty, his habits of living being as simple as those of Carlyle. Both the poet and the prosa consume enormous quantities of tobacco, the vehicle being a plain clay pipe. Tennyson is said to be of a penurious bent, and those who declare this of him affirm that the sacrifice he has just made for his literary reputation must have cost him very dear.

A Strange Disease in Georgia.

From the Courier-Journal.
ATLANTA, Sept. 10.—A strange and fatal disease of the malarious fever type is creating consternation among the people in three or four counties in the western part of the State. Out of fifty-eight persons attacked within the past three weeks only three have recovered. The disease has some characteristics of typhoid fever, but is more rapid and fatal. The tongue swells until the mouth cannot be closed, the victim chokes and blood brakes from the ears, eyes and nostrils. The body is covered with large black spots as death approaches. The disease is spreading without appearing to be contagious, and there seems to be no way to check it. No local cause can be assigned for it. The people are panic stricken. Physicians from this point will go to the troubled district.

Hard on the Preacher.

From the Coueyers Weekly.
A colored preacher came from Social Circle to Conyers, Ga., to preach, the other day. After he finished his sermon, he asked for a contribution from the brethren to carry him back home. He raised ninety-five cents, but $1 was required to pay his fare on the cars, and he asked for the other nickel. A colored brother promptly responded and handed him a $1 bill, and took his ninety-five cents in nickels. Imagine the preacher's surprise and mortification when he presented the $1 to the ticket agent and was told that it was counterfeit.

Female Weakness, Gravel, Diabetes, pain in the back side and loins are cured when all other medicines have failed. "We have sold a large amount of Dr. Mintie's medicine; the English Dandelion Pills; also the Nephreticum, and in all cases they are highly spoken of and give entire satisfaction."
John A. Childs, Druggist, Second street, Portland.
C. H. Woodward & Co., Druggists, corner First and Alder street, Portland.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Stock Report claims that those opposed to the Bland bill were mistaken in saying that if it became the law it would drive gold out of the country. The Stock Report says in answer to the GAZETTE's question, "When was the Bland bill passed?"

The bill for the coinage of the standard dollar, though amended out of semblance to the original, was the bill introduced in the House by Bland of Missouri, unless our memory is very much at fault.

If the bill was amended out of semblance to the original how can the friends of unlimited coinage claim any credit for it not doing the country an injury.

There seems to be no hope for the New York Democrats in the coming elections unless they Yazoo John Kelley out of the fight.

STATE NEWS IN BRIEF.

The quartz mill at Nevada has shut down for the lack of salt.

The feasibility of opening a reading room in Eureka is being considered by certain parties.

The citizens of Palisade intend to build a triumphal arch across the track for General Grant to pass through.

Several horses, runners and trotters, are now training for the races which are to come off over the Winnemucca course next month.

Nearly a thousand dollars in warrants have been issued at Winnemucca to special jurors for mileage in the past two or three days.

The Canyon City News says: Cattle are running fat in the Camp Harvey country, Idaho, and large numbers of them are being driven to Winnemucca to be shipped to San Francisco.

The Silver State says that San Francisco men have purchased all the sulphur mines discovered in the Rabbit Hole country, and under the name of the California and Nevada Sulphur Company, are now working them.

The Sacramento Bee says: An umpire in a Eureka, Nevada, base ball match refused $950 to "throw" the game. Barnum has already offered him $1000 a month to travel as the greatest living curiosity.

The Nevada M. E. Conference will meet at Winnemucca to-morrow, and the Silver State says that people are securing their chicken coops against an expected raid on them when the army of preachers arrive.

The tramp arrested by officer Ruse, at Winnemucca, for selling whiskey to Indians, gave the name of John Bradley. Being unable to give bail, he was committed to the county jail, until he can be taken to Carson.

This morning, says the Tybo Sun, a couple of Chinamen, named Ah Man and Charlie Wahoon, better known as Jackson Charley, got into a fight in their cabin, which resulted in the knife wounds.

The proposed excursion from Eureka to Palisade on the occasion of General Grant's journey eastward will probably be carried out. The railroad company has agreed to provide a special train, and fixed the price of tickets for the round trip at $2.50, if a guarantee that 200 tickets will be sold is given.

Arrangements are making for a match game of old-fashioned town ball, "one out all out," to be played next Wednesday, says the Eureka Leader. The game will be between a party of our fattest citizens on one side and the leanest on the other. A soft ball and hard-door bats have been provided. "The match will be for blood and the championship."

An Indian at Tybo last Saturday tried to load a revolver with cartridges one size too large. He was pushing one of the cartridges into place with his knife, when it exploded, and the shell struck him in the left eye, passing through the eyeball, while the bullet lodged in the barrel of the pistol. The Indian's eye had to be removed by a surgical operation. He may recover.

A Tuscarora and lady attended a ball at Elko and introduced a new metropolitan dance. Their dancing in this described by the Independent: They flopped across the floor, knocked down couples from Lamoille, caromed on a fellow and his girl from Carlin, and sent them against a barrel of lemonade, glanced across the hall and struck an old lady amidst who had just started to call her daughter off the floor because she was afraid the girl would catch the Tuscarora cramps, knocked her under a bench, where she lay and called for her husband to come and pick her up in a basket. In less than two minutes all the other dancers hauled off, and stood on benches and looked at them. Some of the girls hid their heads and said they wanted to go home.

The Palouse county, in eastern Oregon has rapidly filled up with immigrants during the past summer, and what was once an unbroken range of bunch grass has been transformed into handsome farms containing comfortable homes. The last town site selected is on Union Flat, thirty miles from Colfax and eight miles from Snake river, and is called Colton.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

Grande Ronde Valley claims to have reaped five hundred bushels of oats from four acres of land.

Some coins over one hundred years old were plowed up on the coast of Oregon by C. A. McGuire, last week.

San Bernardino reports a heavy crop of alfalfa seed. From a field containing a little over twelve acres the yield was 8036 pounds.

A pedestrian at Bodie started for San Francisco on last Friday, on a wager that he would walk the distance in five and one-half days.

Work has been commenced on the new wharf on the Contra Costa shore for the proposed ferry route. It will be completed early in November.

A house belonging to G. E. White of Covelo, Mendocino county, was burned last Friday. The fire originated from matches laid where the sun's rays ignited them.

Major Roman, agent of the Flatheads, Montana territory, caught two mountain trout last week in one of the lakes near the agency, weighing 13½ and 10 pounds respectively.

William Frazier was badly bitten on the wrist by a rattlesnake while drinking at a spring near the Piru gold mines, in Ventura county, but the prompt application of remedies saved him.

A Chinaman, who had been employed as a cook at a sheep camp near Kingsburg, was recently discharged, and in revenge, poisoned some of the food, which came near making an end of the new cook.

The Lawrence Mining Co., just organized in Colorado, is a consolidation of seventeen lesser claims. The capital stock is $300,000, paid up fully. The principal office will be at Leadville, with a branch office at Lawrence, Kansas.

The Indian pedestrians ran in San Jose Sunday, and made remarkably quick time. The young Apache, Jose made 21 miles in 2 hours, 1 minute and 30 seconds, making the first 10 miles in 57 minutes. "Jim" ran 10 miles in 59 minutes.

It is reported that an assay office and machinery for working quartz on what is known as the Robinson process, is to be established at Pleasant Valley, formerly known as starvation Flat, near Lone City, in which locality the celebrated Kirkendall mine is situated.

The Washington Territory Legislature will convene at Olympia on the first Monday in October. The Council will be composed of six Republicans and three Democrats. The House consists of seventeen Republicans and thirteen Democrats, making a Republican majority, on joint ballot, of seven.
